The first system of musical notation consists of two staves. The upper staff is in treble clef and contains a melodic line with various rhythmic values, including eighth and sixteenth notes, and rests. The lower staff is in bass clef and contains a harmonic accompaniment of chords, primarily triads and dyads, with some sixteenth-note patterns.

The second system of musical notation continues the piece. It features a first ending bracket labeled "1.ª vez." above the final measure of the upper staff. The notation follows the same two-staff format as the first system.

The third system of musical notation begins with a second ending bracket labeled "2.ª vez." above the first measure of the upper staff. The notation continues with two staves.

The fourth system of musical notation continues the composition with two staves, maintaining the melodic and harmonic structure.

The fifth system of musical notation continues the piece with two staves.

The sixth system of musical notation continues the piece with two staves.

The seventh system of musical notation concludes the piece on this page with two staves.

The first system consists of two staves. The upper staff is in treble clef with a key signature of one sharp (F#) and contains a series of chords and some melodic fragments. The lower staff is in bass clef with the same key signature and contains a steady accompaniment of eighth notes.

The second system continues the two-staff format. The upper staff features more complex chordal textures, while the lower staff maintains the eighth-note accompaniment.

The third system shows the continuation of the piece. The upper staff has dense chordal patterns, and the lower staff's accompaniment remains consistent.

The fourth system features a change in the upper staff's texture, with some notes beamed together. The lower staff continues with the eighth-note accompaniment.

The fifth system shows a transition in the upper staff towards a more melodic line. The lower staff accompaniment continues.

The sixth system concludes the page with a final chord in the upper staff and a few notes in the lower staff, ending with a double bar line.
